

LebensImpulse

Ganz • Einfach • Gut

Alexander Prinz zu Schleswig-Holstein

After a bank apprenticeship and a law study Alexander Prinz zu Schleswig-Holstein started working in the finance department for an international trading house.

More than 25 years ago he decided to concentrate on human resources management, already then focussing on the „soft factors“ such as management development.

He was in charge of personnel management for a German medium-sized company, a subsidiary of an American holding company before switching to the consulting sector. He joined one of the market leaders in the outplacement business, and soon started his own business in this field together with a partner in 1995. Later on he expanded his services and started coaching and called his new Company HOLSTEIN:CONSULT. He coaches businesses and private persons, individuals as well as teams, covering all aspects of „soft topics“. His ambition has always been supporting people and organizations to identify and to develop their specific skills, hence to work in a tailor-made and sustainable way, whatever the initial target was.

Beside his professional work Alexander Prinz Holstein has always been involved in several non-profit organizations, gathering a broad scale of experience, nationally as well as internationally.

He is a father of two children.